ELECTION RESULTS STILL UNCERTAIN

Liberal, CCF Second Choices Seem Likely To Be Decisive

HOW PARTIES STAND NOW

The following table, based on latest returns, shows party standings, and a comparison with last year showing how the alternative vote switched the representation. In the elected column for this year only those who have definitely been elected on first counts, or appear sure to be, are included. There are two ridings in which another Liberal victory and another CCF victory have been conceded, but a formal second count will be needed to make it official.

Sweeping Concessions By Reds in E. Germany

Peace Treaty Signed With Protestant Church; May Be Prelude to Unification

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Red rulers announced sweeping reductions Wednesday night in the communization of the Soviet-occupied territory and signed nounced jointly by Grotewohl and Bishop Otto G. Dibelius, head of the Protestant Church of all Germany. It nine points covering most of the main issues sharply reversed the government's hostile attitude of the last few months.

The Protestants are the most powerful religious group in East Germany, Bishop Dibelius' flock includes 16,000,000 of the East's 18,000,000 and 25,000,000 of the 48,000,000 in the West.

German Catholic officials welcomed the agreement and said they hoped to obtain a similar promise of relief from Communist persecution.

The politburo directives provided for:

1. No further extension of the collective farm system.

2. Making state bank credits available to private business men. Those who have been forced out of business will be granted permission to set up shop again.

3. Returning confiscated property and full civil rights to persons who come back to East Germany after fleeing to the West.

4. A general amnesty for all prisoners serving one to three years on charges of having damaged the state-owned economy.

5. Issuance of ration cards to all persons. The state recently withheld cards from 250,000 East Germans, regarded as outside the favored Red circle.

The pact to end the bitter church-state battle was an-group.

1. Recognition of the church's right of assembly.

2. "No further actions" against the Youth Communities and other church groups.

3. Review of court sentences against more than 100 pastors now in jail on charges of opposing the state. Confiscated church property will be returned.

4. All state subsidies to the church—long customary in Germany—to be paid promptly.

5. The ministry of education to work out a plan restoring religious lessons to Soviet zone classrooms.

6. Elimination of discrimination against advanced students loyal to the church or to church groups.

U.S. 'Halt-Reds' Policy Criticized by Pearson

Split Among Allies Seen Shaping in UN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (BUP)—United Nations General Assembly President Lester B. Pearson warned today that the United States would find few followers among its present allies in any policy aimed at the "defeat of Communism—as such—in Asia."

Pearson said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Harvard University Alumni Association that there were signs "that a serious dispute has arisen over the nature and extent of our collective obligations to the defeat of Communist governments in North Korea and Peiping, and not merely to the defeat of military aggression."

"There are few countries inside our western alliance willing to accept this obligation, especially in the terms in which it is sometimes presented in this country."

"There are groups and governments," Pearson said, who feel that Communism in Asia "is a social, economic and political development, growing out of special Asian conditions and one primarily for Asians to deal with."

Stigmatized as Colonization

Active support of anti-Communist elements in Communist countries, and "continuing strong support for any regime which is opposed to Communism, irrespective of its nature or its popular support," would be stigmatized as western colonialism, he said.

"It is felt that our obligation is positive, not negative," he said. "Not to intervene against Asian Communism but to help Democratic Asian governments build up free and stable institutions which will defeat Communism by doing more for the welfare of the under-privileged and under-nourished millions of the East than Communism can ever hope to do."

Pearson spoke at a convocation at which he received an honorary degree from Harvard.

He said he hoped the forthcoming Big Three meeting in Bermuda would ensure harmony among the non-Communist nations in the political conferences that are to follow a Korean truce.

Though other free countries will not go to the Bermuda meeting of U.S., British and French leaders, he said, "they cannot escape its consequences or isolate themselves from its decisions."

The United States cannot "go it alone," Pearson said, but as leader of the coalition of the west will have to accept the spirit of "full consultation and agreement on basic policies and objectives."

"The plain and challenging facts of interdependence on a shrinking globe make solitary progress almost as difficult and unrewarding as solitary confinement," he said. "To reach the right goals we must advance together."

The penalties of leadership, he said, include "being misunderstood and criticized... All this requires the exercise and patience and tolerance and magnanimity; and an understanding of the fact that pulling the eagle's feathers is one of the ways by which his ascendancy among the birds is recognized," he said. "One mistake—political or economic or strategic—by the colossus and the rest of us may be dangerously affected."

British Top-Secret Jet Fighter Crashes

BRISTOL, Eng. (UP)—A super-secret British Delta-winged jet fighter crashed today near school children playing cricket. The children were unharmed but the pilot and another occupant were killed.

The 700-mile-an-hour Gloster Javelin, an RAF all-weather interceptor in priority production, was on a test flight with pilot Peter Lawrence when it crashed on open ground near a playing field 10 miles south of here.

The Javelin, loaded with elaborate radar devices, is one of the world's heaviest twin-jet fighters. Experts at Farnborough also rated it as one of the deadliest.

Russia Reported Abandoning Claim Over Dardanelles

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Unofficial and unconfirmed reports from Ankara today said Russia has abandoned her claim to joint control of the Dardanelles and the area of Kars, Ardahan and Artvin.

The Turkish government was rigidly silent on the reports, but the informants said it may make a statement after it has received the text of a new Soviet note.

The reports, if true, would indicate that the Soviet Union has extended it "peace offensive" to Turkey.

'MEANS DEATH TO US'

Rhee in Flat Truce Denial

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee disagreed with President Eisenhower to a flat rejection of the invading Army.

Rhee said a truce on present terms simply means death to us."

A score of Nationalist Chinese legislators on Formosa praised the aged Rhee for his "firm stand" in rejecting the armistice, but sources at Taipei said the government had not been approached by South Korea on forming a "mutual assistance" pact.

The call for an alliance between Nationalist China and South Korea was made at a meeting of the two countries' foreign ministers at Pusan on May 26.

President Chiang Kai Shek talked for half an hour Wednesday with Korean Ambassador Kim Hung Il, presumably on possible developments after the ROK Assembly.

Rhee spoke hordes of Chinese Communists swarmed through South Korean positions today, punching three holes in the main Allied line in the most savage fighting since last October.

Elements of a Chinese division estimated by an Eighth Army officer at more than 8,000 men started the drive on the east central front Wednesday night and pushed into the main area during the early morning hours.

It is felt that our obligation is positive, not negative," he said. "Not to intervene against Asian Communism but to help Democratic Asian governments build up free and stable institutions which will defeat Communism by doing more for the welfare of the underprivileged and under-nourished millions of the East than Communism can ever hope to do."

The Red forces swarmed over ROK outposts like a steamroller behind a deafening artillery barrage. During one hour of the fighting Chinese Communists fired about 33,000 rounds.

Communist troops originally knocked four holes in the main Allied line near "Outpost Harry" but Americans of the U.S. Third Division closed one of the gaps after 12 hours of bitter fighting.

Shortly after daybreak, the South Koreans, whose government has threatened to throw them into combat alone if the forthcoming ceasefire is ignored by President Syngman Rhee, counterattacked two of the Communist-held strongholds and battled to contain another penetration.

Meanwhile, at Panmunjom, staff officers split into two sections today to speed up their work on a Korean truce.

Army Col. Don O. Darrow took over one of the teams smoothing out final details of the armistice and Marine Col. James C. Murray headed the other.

Defense Secretary Frank C. Nash appeared before the House Public Works Committee as it opened its "last hearing" on whether the U.S. should become a partner in the controversial project.

They endorsed a bill, already

Last Opportunity Given for U.S.

To Join Canada in Seaway Project

Two Czech Cities Under Martial Law

WASHINGTON (UP)—Administration spokesmen urged Congress today to take advantage of a "last opportunity" to join Canada in building the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Commerce Undersecretary Walter Williams and Assistant

Relations Committee, to create a $105,000,000 government corporation which would build a 27-foot canal on the American side of the International Rapids section.

Williams said if the U.S. fails to take a "share," Canada will go along with all construction on the Canadian side and the United States will have no voice in setting tolls.

Joint participation "should lessen the chance for friction between the two countries," he said.

Nash stressed the project's importance to national defense.

"It will not only provide an avenue to the important industrial area surrounding the Great Lakes but will reduce by about 1,000 miles the open-sea route to the British Isles which obviously would be an important advantage in time of war," he testified.

Subcommittee Chairman George A. Dondero (R-Mich.) announced at the outset that testimony will be limited to 12 hours—six hours for each side.

An advocate of U.S. participation in the project, Dondero said nevertheless "this is the last hearing—whether we go in or out."

Mike Pearson made it plain he ain't ready to try to control the political thinking of half th' globe.

Last Barriers to Truce Believed Eliminated

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — All five countries proposed for membership on a "neutral" prisoner-of-war commission in Korea now are expected to serve—thereby eliminating one of the last barriers to truce.

United States officials still privately expressed concern still over the big and probably final barrier—what South Korea will do. But there was increasing confidence here that at some point before, or about the time, the fighting ends, President Syngman Rhee will agree to go along with a cease-fire. Meanwhile, the Korean embassy released Wednesday night in a message sent 12 days ago by Rhee to President Eisenhower asking for a defense treaty with the U.S. and including a provision for keeping U.S. air and naval forces in the Korean area indefinitely as protection against new aggression.

Rhee's other requests, including withdrawal of Communist and UN forces, had previously been made known.

Last Saturday Eisenhower, responding to Rhee's appeal, offered a defense treaty, but at the same time indicated that such a pact would not constitute a formal alliance.

Korea in the future to seek to join the United Nations by force. The U.S. position is that the country must be unified by peaceful methods.

The South Korean attacks on the impending armistice agreement became a factor of critical importance in setting up the post-armistice war prisoner repatriation commission when Switzerland announced Tuesday a refusal to serve unless South Korea approved. Wednesday, country "could be induced" to take part in order to avoid delaying an armistice. These two countries are likely to accept. It is assumed that Sweden will be nominated to serve.

Sweden Ambassador Erik Bonham delivered to the state department late Wednesday a note stating that Sweden has decided to accept to serve.

India—Prime Minister Nehru was quoted in news dispatches as saying India was ready to serve but would have to reconsider if South Korea troops pulled out of the UN command.

U.S. officials considered that India, which is scheduled to head the commission, will serve.

Switzerland—Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre said at Bern his

AURIOL DEMANDS FRENCH LEADERS END CRISIS

PARIS (UPI) — President Vincent Auriol called meetings with leaders of all non-Communist parties today to demand they end the government crisis now entering its fourth week.

Auriol insisted there was a majority capable of governing France despite the National Assembly's rejection earlier today of Georges Bidault, fifth political leader invited to form a government. Bidault's bid to become premier was defeated by only one vote.

The president planned to demand an end to the exasperating and seemingly endless debate on a new premier at conferences today in hopes of providing France with a premier for the Big Three talks later this month.

GIRLS CLUBBED, SLASHED

South Korean Claim Against U.S. Troops

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — South fell received cuts and bruises today American military policemen injured 15 girls with clubs and razor blades during Tuesday's anti-truce demonstrations.

Chin Hui Shik said the South Korean government would protest to the Eighth Army.

He claimed two girls were clubbed, one was cut by a razor blade and 12 others injured by MP's guarding a barricade on the road between Eighth Army headquarters.

Michael Rougier, a photographer for Time and Life, said some of the girls were pushed to the ground by demonstrators behind them.

The MP's were armed with rifles, truncheons and carbines held horizontally in front of them," Rougier said. "When the pressure of the crowd forced the MP's to fall back, the girls went down."

Rougier said many girls who

'Maniac' Threatens Ike's Life

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (UPI) — A vagrant laborer described as a "dangerous maniac" will be taken to Philadelphia to face charges of threatening to assassinate President Eisenhower.

Albert J. Dreyney, 40, was arrested by police here late Wednesday as he applied for a job. His arrest climaxed an investigation by the U.S. Secret Service that began three months ago when the president received a anonymous letter threatening his life.

Secret Service Chief W. E. Baughman disclosed in Washington that Dreyney sent the president a threatening letter last March from Lancaster, Pa., and also threatened the life of the Harrisburg, Pa., postmaster. In past years Dreyney also mailed threats to the late President Roosevelt and to former President Truman, Baughman said.

Dreyney apparently has a "presidential complex" and has spent time in six mental institutions, Baughman said.

OTTAWA — There had been no suggestion at the Prime Minister's conference that the Queen reside part of the time in various Commonwealth countries, Prime Minister St. Laurent revealed today.

Asked to comment on the idea, Mr. St. Laurent, returning from a two-week London trip, told reporters that he would have to consider the matter before making a reply.

Mr. St. Laurent was asked to comment on various domestic election developments, on the return to power of the Liberals in Nova Scotia, the Liberal-Progressives in Manitoba and the Social Credit party in British Columbia.

A reporter asked whether Mr. St. Laurent thought the election was serious now to the Liberals' chances in the federal field.

He did not know whether it was serious for the Liberals, but "it may be serious for the people of British Columbia."

Reporters pressed him for a statement on the government's election plans, but he parried most queries, stating they would have to wait until Friday when a cabinet meeting will be held.

Canadian Korea Balance Sheet Shows Heavy Cost

COLDWELL OPTIMISTIC B.C. PARTY WILL FORM GOVERNMENT

By VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Here is the balance sheet up to date of Canada's cost for participation in the United Nations fighting forces in Korea:

Casualties—1,462.

Killed — Eight officers and 233 other ranks.

Total troops dispatched under the system of rotating men at regular intervals—21,063.

Outlay of expenditures June, 1950, to Dec. 31, 1952, $130,000,000.

Probable total cost if present armistice negotiations are completed, $200,000,000.

Canada's pledge to the UN Korea reconstruction agency, $7,250,000.

Total army casualties, 1,451.

Total navy casualties, 10.

Total air force casualties—One fighter pilot.

Rounds fired by Canadian warships—30,000 rounds main armament and 70,000 smaller shells.

Miles flown by No. 426 Thunderbird Squadron in Pacific air—2,000.

Passengers carried in airlift, 11,000.

Precautions Taken Against Clashes With S. Koreans

IN KOREA (CP)—Orders restricting the movement of Commonwealth division troops to avoid sites of demonstrations or encounters with civilians which passed on to the Canadian 25th might provoke incidents.

The orders reflect apprehension that the armistice may not materialize without South Korea's consent.

They read: "In the event of an armistice there may be hostile demonstrations by South Koreans."

They say only unit commanding officers may authorize unit transportation to proposed south of Tokchong, 25 miles north of Seoul.

Victoria Sinking Blamed On Ship's Unworthiness

BELFAST (Reuters) — The was an increasing list to star loss of the British Railways steamer, Princess Victoria, which sank in the Irish sea last January with the loss of 133 lives, was due to her unseaworthy condition, a court of inquiry ruled today.

The tribunal of four, in a unanimous decision, found there was two reasons for the ship's condition — the inadequacy of the stern doors and the inadequacy of the clearing arrangements for water on the freeboard deck.

The stern doors of the ship, which was sailing from Stranraer, Scotland, to Larne, Northern Ireland, burst open in an 80-mile gale which whipped up mountainous seas during the week-end just before Europe's disastrous winter floods.

The report said the failure of these doors caused the flooding of the ship's car space, from which there was no adequate provision for clearance. There

The Hard Facts Prevail

THE OPPOSITION OF PRESIDENT Syngman Rhee to the terms of the Korean war truce poses a difficult problem for the United States and its allies composing the United Nations forces.

Rhee has roused South Korean opinion to fever pitch with his demands that the war be prosecuted to the fullest extent, that UN troops be put on the offensive immediately, and that no truce be accepted until the peninsula is unified under one government and every Chinese Communist soldier has been sent home.

The world has understood the sympathy for the general intent of Rhee's proposal. The President is a man who has devoted his whole life to Korea. He has suffered torture, imprisonment and exile on its behalf, and lives only for the day when he will see it free of all foreign interference and living in peace under one flag.

Such ideals are understandable. But in the present circumstances their achievement by force appears to be beyond the capacity of South Korea itself, and beyond the willingness of the democracies whose aid would be necessary.

For three years the United States and its allies have fought to repulse the Communist North Koreans who attempted to invade South Korea and conquer it. If a truce can now be arranged that purpose will have been achieved. South Korea has been saved from aggression.

The further objective of unifying the two sections of the peninsula, which at one time appeared capable of achievement through force, will now have to revert to the original plan of achievement through negotiation. That was the United Nations position at the time the Korean war broke out. The UN commission that was to investigate arrangements for universal balloting to determine a national government had been refused entry into North Korea. And the UN was engaged in long but apparently fruitless attempts to have the original proposal carried out.

The UN today takes the position that the situation after a truce will have reverted to that of 1950, and further contact with the North Koreans, if any is permitted, should be at the conference table. That such talks are highly unlikely to be successful is unfortunate. But the alternative of peace fighting, or possibly a third world war, is hardly to be contemplated.

In that light, any attempt by Syngman Rhee to send South Korean troops northward on his own initiative would be equally as reprehensible as the North Korean invasion of three years ago.

So much for unification. The President's second point: the return home of Chinese troops, is covered by the peace terms, and would apply to American and other troops as well. Thus the South Koreans stand to gain little by obstructing the truce arrangements. They stand to lose immeasurably if the current final negotiations fail.

Syngman Rhee is too astute a man not to realize these facts, despite the ardor of a patriot who has seen his land and his people devastated and who logically wants to see some lasting good come from such sacrifice. Merely to hold his own at such a cost can have little appeal.

But facts are facts, and it is upon the hard, undeniable facts that the UN command is basing its hopes that the leader of the South Koreans will accept the truce when it comes to showdown.

'There'll Always Be . . .'

from the man who guided the military alliance that won the war in the west, and later served as the successful co-ordinator of European defense.

For a number of reasons that dramatic leadership in global affairs has not been forthcoming, and this has given the untiring drive and dynamism of Sir Winston scope for global attention. It was Churchill who proposed a Big Three meeting, Eisenhower who tends to hang back. It was Churchill who spoke out in the Commons in favor of more compromise in the Panmunjom negotiations and who thereby may well have paved the way to the truce now so imminent.

The foreign editor of The Evening News, London, hails the Prime Minister as having given "new hope and a new direction to all the people of Europe" by his advocacy of a Big Three meeting. And his marshaling of Commonwealth support for his proposal was another feather in his cap.

Those who rushed to write Britain off as a major world power as a result of her postwar economic difficulties may reconsider their judgment in the light of the importance of the intangibles of personal leadership and national spirit. The second Elizabethan Age is at least off to a good start, and no wise man will sell it short.

Walls of Silence

faced in efforts to solve the Doukhobor problem is illustrated in the community of Gilpin. There, according to British United Press reports, investigations by RCMP officers are meeting walls of silence. The Doukhobors won't talk.

The officers have expressed the view that fires at Gilpin were of incendiary origin. As they pursue their inquiries they can find no one admitting knowledge of anything about the fires.

Indians and Alcohol

SEVERAL YEARS AGO, WHEN

the question of Indians acquiring the right to drink in public was aired, the consensus was that the natives, as a race, were constitutionally unsuited to alcoholic beverages.

More recently people who expressed that opinion found some vindication for their belief in the improper behavior at certain interior points where the admission of Indians to beer parlors was marked by fighting and unruliness. That condition continued for a short time only.

Now, according to statistics from Ottawa, consumption of intoxicants in public places by Indians, allowed in British Columbia and Nova Scotia, has eased off from its 1951-52 peak.

The experience may furnish a guide for future thinking on the issue of Indians and hard liquor. A lifting of all restrictions against them might result in a temporary increase in drunkenness. As the novelty wore off, it is reasonable to expect that moderation would be shown.

Legal access to liquor would do nothing to improve the physical condition of Indians. It might, on the other hand, have a substantial influence psychologically. Removal of the bars, in addition to reducing the bootlegger's trade, would give the native a fuller appreciation of his position as a citizen.

FAIR BROADCAST

Please accept my heartiest and sincere congratulations on the very fine job you and your team made of the election returns Tuesday night.

The voices from all stations came through clear, crisp and without any static or wire trouble up 'till I went to bed.

Furthermore I could not detect even a trace of political leaning in the announcers, a mighty fine thing after so much rather unsatisfactory mud-slinging.

Wishing you all good luck,

ALBERTA VS. B.C.

I wonder if Mrs. Brooks has seen the mountains, covered with the finest timber trees there are, the rich valley lands lower down, rivers for trout fishing, salt water for salmon and other edibles. Driving on easily made up and kept roads with nothing to see for miles and miles must sure be a treat. I almost shiver when thinking of zero.

"OLD ANGUS."

NURSING HOME

If the proposed Victoria Nursing Home is a private concern as has been said, then money from properties sold by this city of Victoria should never have been proposed by any alderman or backed by some other members of the council.

In other words, vice was to be accepted as dignified and respectable etc. confusing and lowering their morals.

In politics, there's nothing new under the sun. So we have today "scientific" articles in the newspapers asserting that prostitutes are modest and respectable etc. confused in an avalanche of sex stuff.

High-powered, suggestive propaganda, slow-moving but sure, "Tobacco Road" panegyrics, and all the rest of the dreary caterwauling, with the public used to it, accepting it as a matter of course.

G. SHRAPNEL.

FILLED WITH DOUBTS

Listening to the radio news my thoughts took me over the political situation of the world, both national and international.

Discontent dominates every phase of our economy; uncertainty of the present, fear of the future, and doubt of the outcome of the policy laid down by the leaders of the western democracies.

This policy has been followed consistently since the end of World War II. It is too fresh in our minds to recall its growth, but the political confusion and economic uncertainty and unrest is most definitely the result of that policy.

Can the blame for this condition be placed where it properly belongs? Primarily greed accompanied by arbitrarily forcing those nations and countries, which recently freed themselves from imperialist rule, and demanding the right to self-government, to restore the old order they had so recently rejected.

The world can have peace with honor, and history will record the advocates of peace at this time, the great of our day and perhaps of our age.

S. SMITH.

GROWING MENACE

night our neighborhood was the scene of an alarming duel between the police and a modern "hot-rod" artist. A police car was chasing another car at terrific speeds around corners and up and down our streets. The siren was screaming on the pavement and the whole chase culminated in the firing of several shots which finally brought the driver of the pursued car to a halt.

It is almost a miracle that no one was hurt and no damage was done. It makes one shudder to think what might have happened to any motorists who might have got in the way at any of the intersections which were violated at such tremendous speeds; or what might have happened to the brave policemen in the chase if their car had gone out of control; or what might have happened to our sleeping children if either car had gone out of control and crashed into one of our homes.

It is interesting to note in the paper today that the driver of the pursued car only received a fine of $50 and a license suspension. Is it any wonder that the hoodlums of today reason that they can get away with almost anything?

Violation of our speed-limits alone is a serious enough infringement to warrant the penalty this driver received. But the liberate defiance of the policemen we have chosen to protect us is an infinitely more serious matter—certainly deserving of a jail sentence at least.

Is it not time that an example was made of these people who deliberately defy our traffic laws? Let us make it clear that the citizens of Victoria will no longer tolerate this growing menace to our safety.

"A CITIZEN."

Prices and Patriotism

I want to be patriotic. I want to be a good Canadian. I give abundant thanks daily for my good fortune in having been born in this fair land, but let us all unite to keep it fair—fair to all. In some understandable (to me) manner commodities have been jugged to such an extent that I crave clarification of this so-called "justice for all."

Today it is the subject of foods that is bothering me. Recently I found good tomatoes from Mexico for 39¢ per lb. and some smaller local ones for 39¢ per lb. Yes, I am mindful of the difference in the standard of living; likewise, there is considerable difference in the expense of marketing. In any event, which tomatoes do you expect the customers to buy? I can tell you.

A fine native son, whom I know well, felt the "call to the land" irresistible. Among other things he produced tomatoes—I may say he is a perfectionist and markets nothing with the slightest blemish. At one time he received 3¢ per lb. at the wholesale when the retail price was 19¢ per lb., leaving 16¢ per lb. to be divided between the wholesaler and the retailer, 8¢ per lb., as compared with 3¢ for the producer.

At that very same time one of our leading politicians (a man of high integrity) was shouting, "Farmers, this is your golden opportunity, produce, produce, produce."

I was a witness to this: when tomatoes were selling at 39¢ per lb., they were naturally moving slowly. I saw a clerk taking out two large boxes of spoiled fruit. I said, "I am not an expert economist, but it seems to me it would be sensible for you to cut your loss and reduce the price, allowing the people to have the food." "Yes," he said, "it would seem so but we are not allowed to do that."

I am asking "whom does that edict protect?" As Mr. St. Laurent recently told us that we have no God-given right to our great plenty—natural resources, etc.—I fear we shall pay dearly for this constant and ever-spreading waste.

I could cite innumerable instances but I would merely be recounting what you all know too well. Yes, we know it, but let us do something to stop it. Just how long do we think the Almighty will forgive us for our smug ingratitude?

A PUZZLED VOTER.

Preferably Hand-to-Hand

ONE CAN be certain of one thing, in this uncertain world. Colonel John Hunt, the leader of the British expedition that conquered Mount Everest, behaved precisely as the leader of such an expedition ought to behave.

One can visualize him among the chilly terrors of the ultimate heights, his pale blue eyes steely with resolve, his long, solemn face stern with determination, grimly leading his party onwards for Queen and country. Indeed, one can all but hear him rallying his fellow climbers, encouraging the Nepalese porters, and giving their send-off to the chosen pair who made the last terrible ascent, in language dangerously close to parody of the bulk of improving boys' books of 40 years ago.

Stewart
Hunt was not yet a hero when one of these reporters first encountered him in wartime. The place was a particularly dreary training camp. The time was early 1943. A high portion of the men in training later had a good war, as the British put it. But the fashions of 1914 were not the fashions of 1943; and when John Hunt raged about the camp, furiously demanding to be "given a crack at the Hun," it was regarded as very odd and slightly comic.

Hunt got his crack at the Hun a little later, when he was sent to Italy to take command of a battalion of his regiment, the King's Royal Rifle Corps. The regiment had been organized in the U.S. in the French and Indian War, and after Pearl Harbor, some Americans had improved the sea exchange of allied enthusiasm.

One of the Americans, Tom Braden, was a lieutenant in Hunt's company. One of Hunt's first acts in Italy was to send for Braden, for a serious private talk.

"You've been looking blue, Tom," he said, with a grumpy, earnestness. "And I know we haven't had a real battle yet, and you haven't had a chance to close with the enemy. But we'll meet the Hun soon, and I want to promise you that I'll give your platoon the first crack at him." At this point, Hunt fairly glowed with generosity, adding cheerily: "With luck, you should even have a chance to get at the Hun hand-to-hand."

Braden was ready to do his duty, as his record more than proved; but he could not regard hand-to-hand combat as the very nicest thing that could be promised.

In those first days in Italy, John Hunt was not popular with his battalion. The British soldiers called him "keen," which meant the same unpleasant things as being an "eager beaver" in the American army.

The great majority of his men were veterans of the desert war, and proudly aware of their distinction. In the desert fighting, they had become accustomed to doing absolutely nothing but drink tea, between engagements with the enemy.

The newly arrived Hunt outraged them by insisting on correct dress at all times. And he very nearly caused an open mutiny when he ordered all officers and men to fall in at dawn every day for a nice long run.

Such a man makes a lasting impression. It was natural to wonder what had happened to him after the war, when there were no more Huns to smite. It was natural to reflect on how very out-of-place he must find himself in the post-war world, amid the debris of disappointed hopes, forgotten high purposes, exploded dreams of glory and sad worries about trade balances.

Then came the headline and the picture in the newspapers. They made all plain. John Hunt had of course been chafing to "get a crack at Everest" ever since he had first got his crack.

Joseph
You may smile at John Hunt if you please, although you will be wiser to regret that Hunt's peculiar style is no longer fashionable.

"None the less, in these times, we are so grubby with human pettiness and so lurid with inhuman horrors, it is wonderfully cheering to remember, for a moment, that John Hunt is still around and is still getting his crack at the seemingly uncrackable."

IN HOLLYWOOD

By ALINE MOSBY

Busiest Man-About-Town

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The man with the most dates in Hollywood isn't Montgomery Clift or Marlon Brando after all, but a quiet unknown who steps out on his wife five nights a week.

Harry Mynatt has a different gal on his arm each Monday through Friday.

Sometimes, just for laughs, he takes his wife along.

The town's busiest man-about-town has the job of hauling those winners on the "Queen for a Day" Radio-TV program around Hollywood.

The contestants on the show—and they line up by the hundreds every day outside the Mutual Broadcasting System studio on Vine Street—each state a wish, such as a washing machine or a wheelchair for grandpa. The audience selects the winner. She not only gets her wish, but is whirled around the gay spots by Mynatt.

"Queen for a Day" is in its ninth year on radio, and sixth year on west coast television—the first show to be transferred to video. By now you'd think Mynatt might be anti-female, but he has stood up remarkably well under the strain.

"I enjoy the job," he reflected. "I like people. All women are nice."

"Some," he added tactfully, "are nicer than others, of course."

Car Passenger Dies in Crash

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—A free-wheeling railway flatcar crushed an automobile here Tuesday, fatally injuring one passenger.

Mrs. Fred Krise, about 55, died of injuries.

Her husband suffered severe injuries. Three other car passengers had minor injuries.

RCMP said an engine was pushing the flatcar and a boxcar toward the crossing when the coupling between the two became loose.

Mr. Leishman said the district has the best manned observation post in B.C. with 72 members between Comox and Kelsey Bay keeping a tally on years as closing time drew near.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Angel were awarded $13 for medical bills and $50 to the credit of their daughter, Pamela, after an asize jury deliberated six hours Wednesday night.

LANGFORD—Maxine Fraser, 17, sponsored by Langford Firemen's Association, was chosen Wednesday night at the community hall to preside over the Langford fair, Aug. 7 and 8.

Two other contestants, Carol Eveleigh, sponsored by the Community Club and Arlene McLaren, supported by the PTA, will be princesses at the annual fair.

NANAIMO—City council will be asked to solve the water supply problem at Princess Anne School, where wells have failed.

When the school was built two years ago it was outside the city limits. Since the Breechin area was incorporated into the city, Nanaimo fire department trucks have been keeping the wells supplied.

This service has been dropped because of heavy demands on the fire department. School maintenance men now deliver water to the school.

Charges Laid Against Vet

NORTH BAY, Ont. (BUP) — An army veteran with a steel plate in his head will appear for preliminary hearing today on charges he criminally attacked three-year-old Susan Hutchins and bludgeoned her to death.

Marvin J. Hutson, 29-year-old logging camp cook, was arrested in Cochrane, Ont., two days after the child's almost naked body was found in a thicket by three children May 20.

Mrs. Frank Hutchins said she left Susan in the care of Hutson, who knew her husband, while she went shopping. When she came back, both were gone.

Thousands Cheer Queen at Famed
Trooping the Color Ceremonies

LONDON (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II celebrated her official birthday today by riding side-saddle on a brown charger through cheering thousands of her subjects to attend the highlight of the military year—the "Trooping the Color."

It looked like the Coronation all over again. The Queen, in crimson tunic with full blue skirt and a tricorn hat, rode between crowded grandstands of her subjects to attend the highlight of the military year—the "Trooping the Color."

In her hat, the Queen wore the emblem of the Grenadier Guards, for though she is colonel-in-chief of all seven guards regiments of her household brigade, it was the Grenadiers that the honor fell to of trooping the color.

With the Queen, in the splendid dress uniform of a field marshal, rode her handsome husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. His horse was frayed. The Duke, an expert polo player, easily kept it under control—though he nearly dropped his new field marshal's baton in doing it.

ROYAL VICTORIES

Trooping the color is a centuries-old military tradition of loyalty to the sovereign by the Guards, who are charged with defending his or her life. On their flags today fluttered the battle-honor ribbons of 300 years. The Grenadiers sported a Waterloo ribbon. They won in that famous battle by defeating Napoleon's own Grenadiers.

The guards also are proud of victories over the Red Indians in Virginia."

Like so many toy soldiers in their red tunics and big bearskin hats, the Guards were drawn up in their famous hollow square formation on the Horse Guards' parade grounds just off busy Whitehall, the street of government departments.

The Queen, with the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Gloucester, her uncle, rode from Buckingham Palace behind an escort of her Household Cavalry with their plumed helmets and shining breast plates.

Prince Charles, carefully taking his cue to salute from his mother, came in a carriage with his little sister, Princess foreign ports flew flags and many fired salutes of honor. In London, a salute was fired at noon by the King's troop, Royal Horse Artillery, and an hour later by the Honorable Artillery Company at the Tower of London.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Charles, 4, and his two-year-old sister, Anne, romped round the nursery Wednesday, impatient for their father, the Duke of Edinburgh, to come for his birthday presents—he was 32.

When the Duke came into the room, they rushed to hand over the presents their nurse had helped them wrap.

Palace officials had nothing to say about the nature of the presents. "It is entirely private," a spokesman said.

After the nursery presentation, the Duke joined the Queen to open some of the thousands of greetings telegrams which swamped the private post office at Buckingham Palace.

The couple had a family birthday lunch with the Duke's relatives who came to Britain for the Coronation.

With them were the Duke's mother, 68-year-old Princess Alice of Greece, and his three sisters, the wives of German princes.

'Slow Count'
Continuing
In Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—Only five seats remained in doubt as the "slow count" continued today on ballots cast Monday in Manitoba's general election, and premier Douglas Campbell's Liberal administration was guaranteed a clear-cut but reduced majority in the 57-seat house.

Manitobans voted in 55 constituencies. The election in two other ridings was deferred until July. After as many as 10 counts in multiple-seat ridings, this was the picture to date:

Elected: Liberals, 28; Progressive Conservatives, 11; CCF, 4; Independents, 4; Social Credit, 2; and Independent Liberal, 1. Total—50.

The Liberals held 33 seats in the last legislature.

Errick F. Willis' Conservative forces were certain to be the official opposition again—and held nine seats in the last house and now were guaranteed 11.

Earlier reports had indicated that Campbell's administration would win at least 33 of the 57 seats.

The Social Credit party—with two members elected—will be a new factor in the Manitoba house. Social Crediters have taken no active part in Manitoba politics for nearly 20 years.

Moody in No-Hit Pitching Dream

Paced by a no-hitting performance by Jim Moody, Eagles whitewashed Fairfield, 23-0, in a Victoria Minor Baseball Association Bantam League contest at Macdonald Park Wednesday night.

Moody hurled sparkling ball for five innings and struck out six. Ray Sugden smashed a home run for the winners.

In another game, Saanich downed Fernwood, 31, behind the three-hit pitching of Jim Mill. All the winners' runs came in the first inning on doubles by Dave Emery and Doug Skillings.

Indians, Bums on Fast Freight Going Nowhere

Streaks to No Avail As Pace-Setters Hold Spots

NEW YORK (UP)—The Dodgers and the Indians had the feeling today that they were traveling like mad on a treadmill—and not getting anywhere.

Brooklyn has won 16 out of its last 19 games and still trails Milwaukee by a full game in the National League race. Things are even tougher for Cleveland. The Indians have won seven in a row but haven't gained an inch on the Yankees, who happened to have a 13-game winning streak still intact. Cleveland, in fact, lost ground by winning 11 out of its last 13 games, and trails the Yankees by 5½ games.

TURNOAT CHARLIE

Things have gotten so bad with Dodger manager Charley Dressen that he's been rooting for the Giants. He went to the Polo Grounds to scout the madcap Milwaukee boys and came away with a 10-0 win.

Dressen went back to Brooklyn to direct his Dodgers to a 13-3 victory over Cincinnati in a night game while the Phils won a pair from the Cubs, 9-1 and 8-5, and the Cards topped the Pirates, 5-1. In the American League the Yankees stormed from behind to defeat Detroit 11-4 and Cleveland edged Washington, 2-1 on Mike Garcia's four-hitter for his fifth straight win. The Athletics defeated Chicago, 2-1 and the Red Ball Association will give baseball fans a chance to view the 11-2 and 3-2 to extend a St. Louis losing streak to nine.

Brooklyn made 13 hits, including a home run by Duke minor league slasher, triples by pinch-hitter five-inning exhibitions starting Wayne Belardi and Carl Furillo at 2.

MIGHTY ARMADA REVIEW READIED

Warships From 16 Countries at Coronation Naval Demonstration off Spithead Monday

LONDON (UPI)—Crowds of sightseers already were moving into hotels in Portsmouth and nearby Southsea for the royal naval review off Spithead Monday. One company was conducting a booming business in all-day expense tours—$35 for a railway trip from London, a cruise up and down the lines of ships with lunch thrown in, and the return to London.

Warships from 16 countries—including the Soviet Union—converged on the English channel port of Portsmouth today for the massive naval Coronation tribute to Queen Elizabeth.

The Royal British Navy and the Royal Navies of the commonwealth nations were lining up 200 ships, from the 45,000-ton battleship Vanguard to the tiny lifeboats of the Royal National Lifeboat Service, at Spithead for the royal review.

The Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh—who was promoted to admiral of the fleet this year after earning his lieutenant commander's mission the hard way—will cruise up and down nine lines of ships each seven miles long and will take the salute of the massed warships from the bridge of a very decorated vessel.

The Soviet Union is sending the cruiser Sverdlov. The United States will be represented by the heavy cruiser Baltimore.

Spain, France, Sweden, Norway, Portugal, Thailand, Denmark, Italy, Greece, Brazil, Belgium, Turkey, the Netherlands and the Dominican Republic also are sending warships.

On Saturday, Kinsmen air cadets and members of the naval reserve division, HMCS Malahat, will attend.

On Monday, the theatre will have as its guests members of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), and Canadian Scottish Cadets.

On Tuesday, the show will be seen by members of the 119 and 129 Batteries Royal Canadian Artillery and men from the Esquimalt Garrison.

Wednesday night, the Coronation picture will be viewed by members of the 245 AC and W. Squadron RCAF Reserve; the 5th Regiment trumpet band, and 13th Field Ambulance.

The earth makes a complete rotation on its axis in about 23 hours 56 minutes.

The Vanguard, largest battleship ever built in Britain, will head the assemblage of naval might, possibly the greatest since the war.

The battlewagon will lie in lonely dignity while fleet aircraft carriers crowd the anchorages which were occupied by 11 battleships at the Coronation review by the late King George in 1937.

The "little ships" which carried the remnants of the British army from the shores of Dunkirk in 1940 have not been forgotten. Fishing trawlers, merchant vessels and coastal craft will line up proudly beside the carriers, cruisers, destroyers and other warships.

Assembly of the ships is scheduled to be completed Friday. Then the vessels will be "dressed over all," with bright signal flags run up on British vessels to spell out messages of loyalty.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, June 11th—No matter how big or little your kitchen or your budget . . . there's a brand new, up-to-date GURNEY Gas Range that's "just right". Indeed, the new Gurney Ranges are "right as rain"—beautifully, sturdily constructed, with the latest in modern design. They're "Kitchen Tested" for perfect cooking and baking. Ask your Gurney dealer to show you the new Gurney models. He has them all . . . including the large "Deluxe Table Top" Range with the divided top that gives you a large center area for elbow-room—also separate Centre-Simmer Top Burners with the handy keep-warm position.

At last, modern science has given me the perfect answer to the "Problem of the Yellow Wash!" Scientists have proved that true whiteness is made up of all the seven colours of the rainbow and if blue is missing, white turns to dingy yellow. Ordinary washing can make clothes clean, but even a washing machine can't make them really white. That is the special importance of Blue. That's why washing needs that last rinse with Blue to replace the missing blue rays and restore sparkling whiteness. It's kind to the finest fabrics. It won't harm them in the least—and it costs just a few pennies a month to use. So keep your white things truly white with Blue!

Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

It's A Lovely Day For A Picnic—so hurry! . . . you can whip up a wonderful picnic lunch for two or ten in a jiffy. How about some deviled eggs and crisp lettuce-with-mayonnaise sandwiches? But be sure the mayonnaise is HEINZ MAYONNAISE. It's "tops" in taste, as are all the Heinz mayonnaise products . . . Ever tried Heinz 57 Salad Dressing—or the scrumptious Heinz Sandwich Spread? There's something to take along on your picnic—mm-mm!—just the thing for healthy outdoor appetites. So take my tip—remember Heinz for happy picnicking!

The Kitchen Is No Place To Spend Your Holidays. So here's my suggestion for cutting down on kitchen time. Take half a dozen boxes of FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATOES to the garage with you. No bulk to carry and just listen to this! No potatoes to boil to add to the heat of the cottage! All you do is follow the instructions on the box. It actually takes just one minute to whip up a delicious serving of mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. Made from top-quality potatoes, French's Instant Potato is prepared by a special process that preserves important nutrients—and flavor. You'll love the flavor and creamy-smoothness of mashed potatoes made with French's. Try them soon!

Harold Robinson Awarded VHS Leader Cup

Coveted Leader Cup for all-round general proficiency at Victoria High School was presented at an Awards Day ceremony Wednesday to Harold Robinson, 18-year-old president of Victoria High Students' Association.

The cup awarded annually since 1928 is rated as a junior-size Rhodes scholarship at the school.

Mr. Robinson was termed an "outstanding Students' Association president and far above average student." He is a proficient rugby player and before Christmas led Victoria High cross-country runners to victory at Royal Roads.

H. D. Dee, vice-principal, presented the cup before more than 900 students in the school auditorium.

Other awards were:

Drama, Ann Heywood and Bill Hamilton; Reg Hammond Memorial biology award, Evelyn Heal; science, Lorraine Brand and Bevan Horton; Camosunet, Gayle Calder and Ruth Sones; mathematics, Brian Johnson; next year's president of the Students' Association, Tom Ellwood.

Arts awards: general proficiency, Dave Long; best pupil Art 31, Louise Warren; best pupil Art 20, Dolores Sellen; best pupil Art 10, Beverley Reside; best notebook, Barbara Hawkes; general proficiency, Kay Kostemuk.

Runner-up for the biology award was Malcolm McMillan.

No Official Complaint On Candidate's Broadcast

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP) broadcast a transcribed program on which Mr. Parker did not speak. With the CBC's permission, Mr. Parker broadcast morning devotions Tuesday, election day, and again Wednesday.

The Canadian Press reported erroneously Tuesday that Mr. Parker was not permitted to broadcast over CJDC Monday.

After an indecisive first count of votes in the riding, Mr. Parker is leading his opponents.

Sir James Ross in 1831 was the first to compute the position of the magnet pole in Arctic Canada.

He said Wednesday that there was no foundation to reports.

Mr. Parker might have violated the CBC ban on political broadcasts within the 48 hours before polling day. For the B.C. election, the deadline was midnight Saturday.

Each Sunday CJDC carries a one-hour church broadcast, rotated weekly among Dawson Creek churches. Last Sunday, it was the turn of the Nazarene Church, of which Mr. Parker is minister.

The Nazarene Church also has a 15-minute week-day devotional period. Monday the station

HOSPITALIZED VETERANS GET SECOND TELEVISION GIFT SET.

Old soldiers at the Veterans' Hospital here will soon possess the latest thing in television, thanks to the zone council of the Canadian Legion.

A set donated to the DVA patients earlier by the Commercial Travelers has been so well enjoyed that a need was felt for another. The zone council began a special drive and response was so great that the best set available will soon be installed. The aerial is up already.

Illness Forces Taft to Quit as Floor Leader

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft stepped aside Wednesday as Senate Republican floor leader because of a "serious" hip ailment and turned over the GOP legislative reins to Sen. William F. Knowland for the rest of this year.

Sen. Taft's decision was not expected to have any big immediate effect on President Eisenhower's legislative program. The Ohio senator will continue to attend White House conferences and be available for advice and consultation.

He said he will yield his floor duties to Senator Knowland, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, to undergo extensive X-ray and cortisone treatment for his hip, which has been painning him since mid-April. He said his doctors insist he gives his injury "first priority."

The Senator, long known as "Mr. Republican," described his illness as "an impairment of the bone, a lesion." Actually, he said, his doctors "don't quite know what it is. They call every thing a lesion, I guess."

He added, however, that they regard the prescribed treatment as "a certain cure, but it will take quite a while—the balance of the session." He said "preliminary treatment" already taken has been "most helpful."

Friends and colleagues said Taft was tested for leukemia and that the tests showed no sign of malignancy.

Work Week, Wages Federal Staff Topics

A general wage increase and implementation of the five-day work week for all federal employees will be matters raised at the forthcoming annual convention of the Civil Service Federation of Canada by delegates from Victoria.

The convention is set for the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City, June 22 to 27. Attending from Victoria will be G. K. Sammon, of the Victoria District Council; John E. Carey, Esquire, and James Bryant, delegates from the Esquimalt Prevailing Rates Association.

The local delegates are to submit resolutions protesting civil service pay compared to that in private industry and the unfairness of requiring some government workers to work five and one-half days while others work only five.

Another question to be raised is the matter of giving government employees "the privilege of collective bargaining as provided for others in the province's ICA Act."

The convention will thrash out all matters of concern to civil servants across the country and then submit its requests to the St. Laurent cabinet.

There are nearly 200,000 elk in the United States, about three-fourths of which spend all or part of their time on the national forests.

de Gasperi Government Must Rely on Monarchs' Support

ROME (UP) — The fate of Premier Alcide de Gasperi's pro-western program appeared today to lie in the hands of the Monarchs who blasted his hopes of decisive victory in this week's elections.

The Monarchs won 40 seats in the new chamber of deputies—enough in combination with de Gasperi's 16-seat majority to provide a firm foundation for Italian support of the Atlantic Pact, the European Army and other key western projects.

Other potentially pro-western parties lost ground in the elections—although de Gasperi's Christian Democrats remained the nation's strongest single party—while the Communists and Fascists gained.

The premier is bitterly angry at the Monarchs for the "deviation" which he says effectively increased extremist strength, and he is not likely to admit them formally to the government coalition. He probably will be willing, however, to accept their help on key issues.

The only major plank in the platform that established the Monarchs as Italy's fourth strongest party was their demand for the return of exiled King Umberto to the throne. Party leader Achille Lauro indicated today that his followers will support de Gasperi in most other matters.

Mount Kanchenjunga . . . massive, terrifying!

EVEREST'S BIG NEIGHBOR UNCONQUERED

City Climber Feels Giant's Lure

By HUMPHRY DAVY
With Mount Everest, con-

mountaineers are now asking themselves the world over: What peak will alpine climbers select as the ideal objective to replace the world's highest?

Desmond Hollox, 27, Cordova Bay, an Englishman who has been with the Indian Army and who explored and traveled the foot-hills of the Himalayas shortly after Second World War, believes the giant peak Kangchenjunga will become the favorite of alpine climbers.

"I never saw in my life a more impressive mountain," he said. "I sat a whole morning looking at this mass of granite, snow and ice towering into the sky."

The peak of Kangchenjunga has never been scaled, though several attempts have been made to conquer the mountain by British, German, American and Swiss climbing teams. It is reported to be 28,295 feet high, 854 feet below Mount Everest's peak.

TERRIFYING

While Kangchenjunga is not as high as Everest, Mr. Hollox said climbers regard it has the

Atomic Tests Not to Blame For Twisters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission, the weather bureau and just about everyone else said today that the Nevada atomic tests had nothing to do with the recent series of disastrous tornadoes.

Their flat assertions apparently convinced one congressional skeptic, Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), after first saying he thought there was a link, finally decided, there wasn't.

Van Zandt, a member of the joint congressional atomic energy committee, originally told a reporter he was convinced the tornadoes "definitely" were connected with the nuclear tests. Several hours later he told another reporter he didn't mean that at all.

This was after the atomic energy commission, apprised of Van Zandt's statement, said that joint studies with the weather bureau over a number of years have failed to show any connection between nuclear tests and the weather.

Dr. Harry Wexler, chief of services division, said flatly maker because it doesn't produce enough energy.

"It is situated about 40 miles from Darjiling, a city in the Himalayas," he said. "On a clear day you can get a wonderful view of Kangchenjunga. Mount Everest is 80 miles away as the crow flies and can also been seen, but not as clearly."

Mr. Hollox, who settled in Victoria a year ago, believes there is no place in the world to match the scenery of the Himalayas.

ROCKIES LIKE FOOTHILLS

"Just picture the Rocky mountains as foothills to a giant range of titans," he said. "You will get some idea of how massive the Mount Everest range is."

For four weeks Mr. Hollox and a companion trekked into the Himalayas, stopping at Ne-

New Nanaimo Ferry, Kahloke, makes for trials

Black Ball Ferry Schedules Five Daily Runs Out of Island Port

New Black Ball car ferry and passenger service between Vancouver and Nanaimo will start June 27 with five return crossings daily.

The ferry will be the completely rebuilt MV Kahloke, preparing this week at Yarrow for trials on Wednesday.

Officials of Black Ball Line, parent to

Ltd. said today that Wednesday's trials likely will see Kahloke turn up 20 knots. The 297-foot vessel is powered by four V16 General Motors Diesel electric engines, each of 1,750 horsepower, similar to MV Chinook.

Captain Alex M. Peabody, president of Puget Sound Navigation Company, parent to Kahloke, has been the pride of several lines in years gone by . . . her hull is 50 years old.

BUILT IN 1903

Her keel was laid in Philadelphia in 1903. She was called "Asbury Park" and was built a coal-burner for the Central Railroad of New Jersey. She came to this coast in 1918 under ownership of Monticello Lines of San Francisco, in which harbor she plied diligently for many years. She lost a stack in conversion to oil in 1922 and was refitted to carry cars.

In 1925 she became "City of Sacramento." She was sold again to the Puget Sound Navigation Co. of Seattle, from where she tripped back and forth to Bremerton with an unparalleled record as a troop carrier during war years.

IDLE UNTIL 1952

They retired Kahloke at the end of the war and she grew rusty and barnacled in a Seattle berth until 1952 when she was towed to Yarrow and stripped almost to the waterline.

Today she has regained her pride and the grace that her name suggests. Kahloke, B.C. Indian for "white swan," is pronounced Caa-loe-key.

Her modern luxury will be almost unequalled on this coast. Spacious lounges, promenade areas, and lunch counter are designed to brighten the lives of her passengers.

She will be captained on her trials and on her first crossing from a new depot at Departure Bay to Horseshoe Bay by Capt. D. F. Reynolds, Black Ball marine superintendent. The crossing will take 90 minutes.

Shipping and transport officials will be guests for the trial run in the Straits of Juan de Fuca this week. Kahloke will spend about six hours in the straits.

Dental Degree for Victorian, R. R. Ross

Roger R. Ross, of Victoria, has been approved for the degree of doctor of dental medicine from the University of Oregon Dental School. It was learned here today.

Ross is among three students from British Columbia in a class of 65 now completing a four-year course in dentistry. Graduation rites will be Thursday night, June 18, in Portland.

He is the son of Percy B. Ross, Craigflower P.O.

Capital stock of Kerr Gifford & Co. Inc., which operates the Ogden Point grain elevator jointly with Hallett & Carey (B.C.) Ltd., has been sold to Cargill, Inc., a Minneapolis grain firm. Kerr Gifford & Co. of Portland, the oldest grain company of the Pacific coast, hold 50 per cent of the stock in the Victoria elevator. The sale of stock is not expected to have any effect on operation of the Victoria elevator.

At the latest standing Social Credit is leading in six Vancouver Island seats, where it didn't elect a candidate last June. CCF candidates are ahead in the other four.

Twenty-five ridings still have not completed their first counts.

GIVEN GOOD CHANCE
Political observers see the Socreds as having an excellent chance of forming a majority government with the CCF in its usual role of the official opposition.

But the second choice votes hold the key to the entire election. "Second choice" has become the magic phrase on more than 1,000,000 lips in B.C., and it will become more intriguing as the three-week waiting period draws to a close.

Meanwhile, Premier Bennett has announced a new liquor act and the Rolston formula on education costs will be the first items dealt with at a session in September.

"We'll bring up first the legislation vetoed at the last session by the combined opposition. Education comes first, and then we'll deal with liquor," he said.

BENNETT BACK IN CITY SOON

Premier W. A. C. Bennett returns to Victoria Friday morning after spending the final few days of the election campaign—and election day—in his home town of Kelowna.

He is expected to arrive on the morning boat.

The same morning he will meet with his cabinet presumably to discuss the election picture and future plans of his government which appears headed for re-election.

Only five of the ministers are considered certain to be re-elected, but Premier Bennett is confident the doubtful ones will squeeze through.

Thieves Get No Cash, Take Truck, Crash

A stolen car, used by shopbreakers, was finally involved in a hit-and-run collision during the night, city police reported today.

Policemen checking security of premises found Radio Specialties Ltd., 919 Fort, had been entered by breaking a window in the rear door.

The cash register in the office had been forced open, but the thieves drew a blank there contained no money.

Police said the thieves found the keys to the firm's panel delivery truck in the office and took the vehicle away with it.

Police said the same car was involved in a hit-and-run accident on Rudlin between Camson and Chambers during the evening.

The stolen car was found abandoned at 7:45 a.m. on Ru-pers near Collinson.

Victoria Boys Asked To Island City Derby

Victoria boys will be eligible to compete in a soap box derby at Port Alberni July 1.

Fred Wilkinson of Wilson Motors Ltd., who said several city lads already have entered, still has entry forms available at his office.

Racing will be on the steep Fourth Avenue course, where a Victoria competitor, Norman Wilkinson, was once clocked at 41 miles per hour.

Her modern luxury will be almost unequalled on this coast. Spacious lounges, promenade areas, and lunch counter are designed to brighten the lives of her passengers.

She will be captained on her trials and on her first crossing from a new depot at Departure Bay to Horseshoe Bay by Capt. D. F. Reynolds, Black Ball marine superintendent. The crossing will take 90 minutes.

Shipping and transport officials will be guests for the trial run in the Straits of Juan de Fuca this week. Kahloke will spend about six hours in the straits.

City Hall Workers in Conference Here

BLUE-EYED KITTY WANTS HOME

Unwilling Owner Warned Against Untimely End

By PETE LOUDON

It was a fuzzy little black and white bundle of fun with blue eyes and a meow like a red-whiskered. When the motorist gave it to a toddler in Esquimalt the other day, then drove off, the youngster was still at the Fitzpatrick's.

The lady phoned again and was told that the SPCA would call, but there would be a $1.50 service charge. Mrs. Fitzgerald bridled at that.

After all it wasn't her cat; she was just trying to be a good Samaritan. There are easier ways of disposing of unwanted kittens, she said.

Then Mrs. Fitzpatrick said she was lectured on what trouble there would be if the kitten met an untimely end. She doesn't know what to do with Boots.

Municipal Problems Before Civic Officials Meeting Here

The people who administer

British Columbia's civic government were absent from their town hall offices today.

They congregated in Victoria for a two-day parley on general municipal matters, newest administrative methods and community problems.

An annual conference of the Municipal Officers' Association of B.C. got underway this morning in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel.

Ninety-nine persons were registered for the conference at 11 this morning and still more were expected to arrive later in the day.

The annual conferences are designed for the benefit of municipal clerks, treasurers and comptrollers. Many of those attending from some of B.C.'s smaller centres hold all three jobs and often many more besides.

SHE'S DOG-CATCHER
Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, one of half a dozen women taking part in the convention, holds all top posts at Princeton and among other duties she is city dog-catcher.

The delegates were welcomed to this year's conference at this morning's session by Finance Minister Einar Gunderson.

The music committee comprises Misses M. Vaughan and U. Calvert and Dr. Harry Hickman, one of the vice-presidents.

Hart Clashes With Counsel

Lawyer Rebuked as Jury Hears Details of Accident Fatality

A young Victoria lawyer was rebuked by Coroner E. C. Hart today for disrupting the routine procedure of an inquest at McCall Bros. funeral parlor.

The inquest inquired into the death of Peter Nicolson, 52, of 206 Chambers, who died Monday night in hospital from injuries sustained in an accident earlier in the day.

The accident occurred at the corner of Cook and Burdett. Nicolson, a cyclist, was in collision with a car driven by 81-year-old Arthur Terry, 530 Dallas Road.

Mr. Terry was absolved of all blame by the jury, which turned a verdict of accidental death.

The disagreement between the coroner and lawyer, Ian M. Horne, representing Mr. Terry, occurred when Dr. Hart called upon Mr. Terry to come to the witness chair to receive routine instructions.

Apparently, Mr. Terry refused to do so upon the advice of his counsel who explained to the coroner that his client did not intend to give any evidence.

CORONER INSISTENT

"I still want Mr. Terry to come to the witness chair," said Dr. Hart.

Mr. Terry did not budge. "I think you are making a fool of yourself," said Dr. Hart. "This is my court and I want the witness here."

Dr. Hart added that he realized that Mr. Horne was "a young barrister," and probably was not versed in the routine of an inquest.

It finally ended with Dr. Hart ordering Mr. Terry to stand up. Mr. Terry did so and received the routine instructions from the coroner.

The incident ended with Dr. Hart reminding the lawyer that it also was his duty to protect witnesses and see that the procedure is upheld.

Lack of Pickers May Mean Losses To Berry Grower

Serious losses in B.C.'s strawberry crop are possible unless there is a better response to appeals for pickers, Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan said today.

Mr. Kiernan, who is chairman of the farm labor committee, appealed to women over 18 to register for berry picking as soon as possible at the National Employment Service or the Farm Labor Service.

"Considerably improved quality of crops make it possible for diligent workers to earn very good wages," he said.

Batching accommodation is provided by most growers in the Abbotsford and Mission districts.

"The entire agricultural economy of much of the Fraser Valley will be seriously hurt unless sufficient pickers are obtained to harvest the exceptionally good crop of strawberries," Mr. Kiernan said.

Colorful Guard For Ceremonies

Brilliant dress uniforms will be worn by a color-guard of the Canadian Scottish Regiment at Parliament Building flag-lowering ceremonies tonight.

The sunset ceremony will take place at 9 p.m. Both pipe and brass bands will participate. Senior officer present will be Capt. A. M. Leed.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—What species of fish is finnan haddie made?—B.P.

A.—Finnan haddie is haddock which has been split, dressed, brined or salted and then smoked.

Q.—Can you please tell me the value of a Caruso record personally autographed by him?—B.C.

A.—There appears to be no generally recognized price for such Caruso records. It might depend on how greatly the purchaser desired the record, for sentimental or other reasons. Dealers in Victoria have in stock autographed records by other famous singers which they sell at the regular prices for 10-inch and 12-inch records. Any record autographed by Caruso must be at least 32 years old, as he died in 1921.

Answers to questions unanswered in this column are invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times." Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Here Are the Latest Togs For Well-Dressed Men!

By PENNY SAVER

Get hep, men! . . . The swing is to sports shirts! I know that you know they're popular, but I'll wager you didn't know that sports shirts are selling two to one over dress shirts this year. . . . Last year, sales were about evenly balanced between the two, but merchants all across Canada have reported the greatest trend to knock-about styles this season.

Greatest sales have been made on the neat check patterns. . . . I noticed a smart one in black and white for $6.95. Personally, I maintain that bright colors or gay designs are best for summer wear. For example, great splashes of white leaves on a dark ground, make for a flashy shirt for sunny days. Price on such a shirt is also $6.95.

Cotton seersucker shirts with short sleeves look good if you have a tan, boys! They've got brown, blue and grey backgrounds with palm trees and beach scenes on them. Price of this style is $3.95. Seersucker shirts in plain pastel shades are lightweight and cool . . . $4.50.

It seems to me that those photographic ties would go best with a sports shirt . . . a plain one, please! The ties are tops with many sportmen, for they portray scenes of fishing, base ball and skiing. Price tag? $1.95!

High school and college fellers will know just what I have in mind when I mention jackets of black Melton fabrics with cream-colored horsehair sleeves! Yes, boys, they're available in Canada, now, and what's more, they're no more expensive than the ones in the States! You see, they're being made in Canada and that's the reason. With gold and black pointed collars and cuffs, they cost $11.95. And in black . . . they're in high colors!

Hand-knitted and hand-knitted by French habitants in eastern Canada are pullovers to keep you warm on dismal days. Great for early-morning fishermen, they cost $15.95 or $22.50, depending upon weight.

Tartan weskits with wool jersey backs look sharp with grey flannels! In assorted authentic tartans, price is $7.50.

Constant Bickering Kills Marital Love

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Arguments cause hard feelings and hurt pride. Under such conditions it is hard for love to thrive. That is why this wife should change her tactics:

(Q) "I have been married for eight years and have one child. My husband strikes me whenever he cannot have his way. I must admit I am stubborn too. We argue and fight. I am the one who holds a grudge, not he. He claims I nag but I cannot see that. I am only telling him the truth which I feel hurts. Whenever he strikes me I strike him back just to show I'm not afraid. Now I feel that all I can do is stand him for the sake of our child. What can I do to be happy with him?"

(A) You must stop fighting and arguing and you must learn to be more tolerant of your husband as he must learn to be of you, if you want to have peace, harmony, and happiness in your marriage.

Criticizing a man, nagging at him, arguing and fighting are sure to kill any love your husband has for you. It is killing your love for him, as you realize.

What good will it do to hold your home together for your child if the type of home you have is one in which no child can be happy? And what sort of impression will your child get of marriage and home life from the model you are setting?

As you have doubtless heard many times, it takes two to make a quarrel. Remember this every time you are tempted to argue with your husband. Simply refuse to argue or fight and there will then be no excitement.

This is not a sign of weakness on your part but of common sense. The chances are that things you fight about are not worth the effort anyway. It does no real good but a great deal of harm to you, to your husband, and to your child. Now is the time to put a stop to it.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's best psychologists and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When replacing a fuse, always use one of the same rating. Never substitute any other piece of metal for the fuse. To disregard these rules could cause serious damage.

Bedsteads with cracks and crevices can harbor vermin if not cleaned frequently to remove dust and fluff.

Keep paint brushes in good condition by washing them after each use with yellow kitchen soap. Do not bend or crush the bristles while soaping and rinse thoroughly.

Try this for an extra easy and extra tasty first course. Thinly slice one green onion and cook until limp in a bit of butter. Stir in one can of condensed cream of chicken soup and add an equal amount of milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Just before serving add one cubed peeled Calavo avocado. Very elegant.

Until you try this fluffy neater dressing on fruit salad you'll never be able to guess how delicious it is. Combine $\frac{1}{2}$ cup apricot white fruit nectar with three tablespoons honey and one tablespoon cornstarch. Cook and stir until thickened and blend in three tablespoons lemon juice. Chill thoroughly and before serving fold in one cup whipped cream.

Most people are candidates of work and even more and better work, and have more fun doing it, if you practice this art.

Here are a few suggestions:

1. You have only so much energy. No one person can do everything. Decide what is important to you and to those you love, decide the way in which you will spend your energy most happily. Be absolutely stubborn when it comes to spending it otherwise. The world will not profit by your ill health, grim attitude or nervous breakdown. We only come into contact with a small segment of the world and the best service we can give to the world as a whole, is to serve that segment to the best of our ability.

2. While being needed is important to the happiness of every human soul, do not take yourself too seriously. Remember that the sun would rise and the moon would shine, and life would go along much the same, even without you. You can best serve life when you have yourself in focus and are relaxed and rich in spirit.

You can do the same amount

How can you avoid these? Well, of course you cannot, entirely, but there is an art which can be learned with practice, one which is most fundamental. It is the art of developing "cut-offs." This is not a question of not caring, of taking one's responsibilities lightly. It is a art of guiding your own life, of deciding what is important to you and what is not.

Be absolutely stubborn when it comes to spending it otherwise. The world will not profit by your ill health, grim attitude or nervous breakdown. We only come into contact with a small segment of the world and the best service we can give to the world as a whole, is to serve that segment to the best of our ability.

2. While being needed is important to the happiness of every human soul, do not take yourself too seriously. Remember that the sun would rise and the moon would shine, and life would go along much the same, even without you. You can best serve life when you have yourself in focus and are relaxed and rich in spirit.

You can do the same amount

How can you avoid these? Well, of course you cannot, entirely, but there is an art which can be learned with practice, one which is most fundamental. It is the art of developing "cut-offs." This is not a question of not caring, of taking one's responsibilities lightly. It is a art of guiding your own life, of deciding what is important to you and what is not.

Most people are candidates of work and even more and better work, and have more fun doing it, if you practice this art.

Here are a few suggestions:

1. You have only so much energy. No one person can do everything. Decide what is important to you and to those you love, decide the way in which you will spend your energy most happily. Be absolutely stubborn when it comes to spending it otherwise. The world will not profit by your ill health, grim attitude or nervous breakdown. We only come into contact with a small segment of the world and the best service we can give to the world as a whole, is to serve that segment to the best of our ability.

At Home for Silver Wedding

To celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan McColm, 3359 Salsbury Way, held an "at home" recently. Among the more than 50 guests who attended were members of their bridal party: Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Starkey, best man and bridesmaid, and Mrs. Dorothy Congdon, who had been their flower girl.

Red roses, pink carnations, white sweet peas, gladioli and stock and blue iris dominated the masses of flowers that adorned the reception rooms. Wrought iron branched candelabra bearing white candles and an arrangement of white flowers were on the mantlepiece, before which Mr. and Mrs. McColm received their guests. The supper table, laid with a lace cloth, featured a two-tier wedding cake and white candles in silver sconces. Numerous gifts were on display and Mr. K. D. Briggs proposed a toast to the anniversary couple.

Mr. and Mrs. McColm were married at First United Church by Dr. W. G. Wilson and have two daughters, Mrs. S. E. Knapp, 1002 Pakington Street, and Mrs. D. L. Corke, Burns Lake B.C.

Visitors From Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson Miller, formerly of Winnipeg, now of Los Angeles, Calif., are registered at the Empress. Mrs. Miller is well known in the British colony there, having served two terms as president of the Women's Canadian Club of that city. Mr. Miller, formerly circulation manager of the Winnipeg Free Press and latterly managing director of the Winnipeg Telegram, has been resident in Los Angeles for the past 30 years, where he was division manager of the Occidental Life Insurance Co. until his retirement in 1950. They have many friends in this area.

Family Gathering in Victoria

Mrs. Arthur W. McCurdy, Caroline Apartments, is enjoying a visit from her daughter, Harriet, Mrs. Ernest W. Blanchard, who arrived by plane from New York. They will be joined for the week-end by Mrs. McCurdy's son, W. M. McCurdy, Vancouver, and his wife, Dorothy, and their two sons, John and Michael.

Miss Leason Feted

Miss Barbara Leason was honor guest at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Laverne Sands and Mrs. Ronald Fletcher at the home of the former on Richardson Street. Pale ping carnation corsages were presented to Miss Leason and her mother. Mrs. Leason's gifts were concealed in a clothes basket decorated in pink and white. Refreshments were served from a table arranged with pink and white carnations in an inlaid silver bowl and inlaid silver candlesticks with white candles. Other invited guests were the honor guest's grandmother, Mrs. E. E. Leason, Mrs. E. Barrington, Mrs. J. Broadwell, Mrs. H. Campbell, Mrs. J. A. Green, Mrs. J. Lewis, Mrs. G. Harvey, Mrs. F. Harvey, Mrs. T. Leason, Mrs. F. R. Wille, Mrs. J. Collins, Mrs. M. C. Sands, Misses Sylvia Angliss and Velda Wille.

A Tea-Hour Gathering

Following the annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday a tea was held to honor the guest speaker, Major D. L. CORONATION SHOWS — Very few of us were able to be in London for the historic occasion of Queen Elizabeth's coronation on June 2. But, starting today, we have the opportunity of viewing the ceremonies and procession, possibly much better than if we had actually been in London and Westminster Abbey. You have a choice of two films of the Coronation.

At the Odeon will be the much-publicized J. Arthur Rank film, "A Queen Is Crowned." At the Royal will be "Elizabeth Is Queen," produced by Associated British-Pathe.

Both promise to be excellent. But there are differences in that occasion.

I think I'll see 'em both. The Odeon's version, "A Queen Is Crowned," is the only full-length feature in color by Technicolor. This film will start with the proclamation at Edinburgh and St. James Palace and will take up the planning, preparation, coronation, and the actual Coronation inside the Abbey and the great processions.

Produced by Castleton Knight, "A Queen Is Crowned" will be narrated by Britain's fine actor Sir Laurence Olivier. The script was written by dramatist Christopher Fry. The incidental music will be by Sir Malcolm Sargent and the London Symphony Orchestra.

The Royal's show, "Elizabeth Is Queen," on the other hand won't be so long. It will run approximately 5,500 feet, or about an hour's running time. It, too, will be in color—Warner-color. Accompanying music will be conducted by Sir Adrian Boult with the London Philharmonic Orchestra. The Associated British-Pathe job will be Prisoners Behold! No Pants on His Honor!

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Justice John Brett was overruled by fellow judges of the state criminal court of appeals Wednesday.

They felt he had gone overboard for comfort.

It was a hot day. Their judicial robes were warm.

When it came time to go on the bench, Judge Brett lifted his calf-length gown in the chamber and confided: "Look, no pants!"

Justice Dick Jones and John C. Powell won the resulting discussion, 2-1. Brett wore his britches in court.

Answer
Puzzle No. 10

COMMENTS:

CLUES ACROSS:
1. MUMBLE is best. Many old buildings are torn down or raised to save the down ONCE. Many a RUSE is tried repeatedly to fool the tax collector.
2. VOTES is best. The phrase "have in view" suggests bearing something in mind. To have in view means to keep something in sight, thus favoring VOTES over notes.
3. TIP is best. A TIP is a small amount of dirt, to a degree, but can sometimes cause complaints if passed around. It is necessary to be tidy to be respectable, particularly.
4. HIDE is best. HIDE is a wanted man and you will be knowing him. You might be HIDDEN.
5. FAKE is best because it is the only answer having any necessary connection with deceiving.
6. CERTO is best. The clue mentions "thoughtless". No RUMOUR is a rumour. CERTO is a trademark.
7. HUMOUR is best. The clue mentions "thoughtless". No RUMOUR is a rumour. CERTO is a trademark.
8. PET is best. It might well afford pleasure to a sportman. An EXPERT has a field and an EXPERT is from the origin of betting, rather than from having a pet. A PET is a small animal for pleasure, and even then from winning rather than the actual placing.
9. BREACH is best because the BREACH of a gun contains an open end. The word BREACH might suggest a hole in the mind. A BREACH is a "gap" and is in this case a gap in the mind.
10. BLOD is best. A ROOT might leave no very noticeable mark on the body, but it would be seen without a mother even observing the crime. A BLOD of ink definitely written would certainly earn a scolding.
11. RUST is best. The clue says "too much". Too much RUST is stiffness. Too much RUST may well result in total immobility.
12. TALK is best. Note the words "may possibly". If you're fond of verse, which means poetry, get a book of poems. A TALK more often than not, is read.
13. DUFFET is best. DUST is everywhere. The musical DUFFET has a strong link with the stage.
14. DOWN is best. A PAWN cannot move. It has to be moved in play by the player.

Food Retailers
Want Probe of Premium Deals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Members of the food division of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada passed a resolution at their annual meeting here Wednesday urging investigation of the legality of premiums as sales incentives.

Representing 40,000 independent food retailers, the food dealers asked that if existing legislation was "not adequate" for the prevention of "costly" coupons and premium deals" that the national association seek new federal legislation.

A. B. Brauli of Cowansville, Que., was re-elected to a third term as president of the division, while Verne Jantzi, Toronto and Mal Grant, Winnipeg, were elected vice-presidents.

Annual School Drill

Parents and friends watched the annual drill inspection and contest at St. Michael's School parade ground Wednesday and saw the First Platoon (white) win the cup. Individual winners were E. Kenney, seniors; P. Wallace, intermediates; O. Longridge, juniors; and O. Joergenson, midgets. Lieut. P. Birch-Jones, R.C.N., judged the contest and took the march past. Mrs. R. Scott-Moncrieff presented the trophy.

COLUMNIST STATES OPINION
Well known for his columns in Ottawa newspapers and New York magazines, Austin Cross relates his thirst for news with thirst for everybody's favorite, Canada Dry. "My views on refreshment haven't changed in twenty years," says Mr. Cross. "When it comes to punctuating a hard day's work with a moment or two of relaxation, Canada Dry's flavor and sparkle have always held my interest."

See for yourself how good this world-favorite really is! Order Canada Dry today!

'Save Rosenberg' Picketers Clash With Montreal Police

MONTREAL (CP) — Violence flared Wednesday when police clashed with pickets staging a "Save the Rosenbergs" demonstration in front of the United States consulate here.

About a dozen screaming demonstrators, half of them women, were arrested when they battled with police after ignoring an order to disperse.

Carrying banners reading "free the Rosenbergs," the pickets formed up at lunch hour near the consulate at the corner of Stanley and St. Catherine Streets, one of Montreal's busiest intersections.

Police said the demonstration was Communist-inspired. The banners referred to Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, convicted American atom spies, scheduled to be electrocuted June 18.

Tipped in advance that the demonstration was scheduled, a dozen uniformed men were waiting near the consulate when the pickets appeared. Police ordered them to disperse on the grounds their assembly was illegal.

The order was ignored and fights started.

Absentee Reds Face Exposure

VIENNA (AP) — Czechoslovakia has set up a system of "camera control" to stop absenteeism, the newspaper Rud Pravo said Wednesday.

"If these allegedly sick workers are found in their gardens or working elsewhere their pictures will be taken and published," the Communist newspaper said.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Seeks Nevada Divorce

RENO, Nev. (UP) — Millionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., will seek a Nevada divorce this week from his wife, the former Patricia Murphy Wallace, whom he wed Sept. 7, 1948.

Vanderbilt, 55, has been in the Reno area for the past several weeks, living in his fabulous house trailer and making occasional lectures. He has been a legal resident of Nevada for the past 25 years.

SNIP, SNIP WENT SCISSORS,
50 FIRST CHOICES BIT DUST

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg Free Press reported Wednesday that at one Winnipeg polling station in Monday's Manitoba general election a woman polling clerk mistakenly clipped first choices off about 50 ballots with scissors during the first count.

The newspaper says that when an official discovered the error the first choices were stapled back on the ballots for continuation of the count.

Proportional representation is used in Winnipeg ridings. Voters mark their choices 1, 2, 3, 4 and so on. Only the first choices are counted at polling stations. The ballots are then placed back in their boxes and taken to a central compiling centre for further counting.

$5.3 Billion Foreign Aid

Bill Approved By U.S. Body

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate foreign relations committee approved a $5,312,000,000 foreign aid bill Wednesday after chopping only $166,000,000 from President Eisenhower's revised request.

The military features of the measure will now be scrutinized by the Senate armed services committee. After that it will go to the Senate floor, where it faces extended debate and probable attempts to force further reductions.

Some influential members of the House foreign affairs committee, which is considering its own version of the bill, predicted that the president's program will be cut as much as $1,000,000,000 in the House.

The senators approved $71,

000,000 in Korean relief funds

on which it had postponed action

Tuesday in hopes that the true situation would be clarified.

Popoff Found Guilty Of Arson by Jury

Castlegar Fire Chief and Ex-Magistrate Admits Kicking, Threatening Sons' Member

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—An Assize Court jury Wednesday brought in a guilty verdict on two counts of arson against Sons of Freedom Doughboy Paul Karl Popoff.

The 40-year-old Freedomite fire chief replied: "That's a possibility."

Q—Did you call him a dirty Douk?

A—No.

Q—Did you call him a dirty liar? (when he denied setting the fire.)

A—That's a possibility.

Q—Do you recall anyone suggesting throwing Popoff off the Kootenay River Bridge and the Castlegar ferry if he didn't confess?

A—It was suggested to him that he deserved to be thrown in, but we didn't say it to get a confession. Our purpose was to keep him out of Castlegar.

Popoff was earlier convicted on a charge of arson in the burning of a home.

The jury deliberated only 18 minutes before returning its verdict.

Popoff's confessions, one in English dictated to an RCMP officer, and the second written in Russian while confined in jail, were both admitted without objection by the accused man's lawyer.

Popoff, convicted of dynamiting Peter Verigin's tomb in earlier Sons of Freedom uprisings, was released from the B.C. penitentiary in 1949. At that time A. M. Manson and sent back to the Kootenays as a "messenger of good will."

Employed as a painter to work on the house, Popoff said in his confession he decided to burn the building because Bloodoff, a Castlegar merchant, would make a profit on the house, contrary to Doukobor ideals.

His Russian-language confession was addressed to the Consultative Committee on Doukobor Affairs and outlined what he said were the reasons for the act.

Castlegar fire chief and one-time magistrate R. A. D. West admitted during his testimony before the Assize Court that he kicked and threatened Popoff following the incendiary blaze in the town last fall.

He denied that they took Popoff inside the house and struck him, but when defense counsel asked if West had struck Popoff across the face in front of the house the former

UBC Grad Named Fisheries Research Head

WASHINGTON (CP)—John L. Kask, 47-year-old Canadian-born fisheries scientist, has resigned from the United States fish and wild-life service to become permanent chairman of Canada's fisheries research board.

Kask, a native of Red Deer, Alta., and a veteran of more than 26 years in the field of fisheries research and management, confirmed his new appointment Wednesday. He will leave for Ottawa July 7.

He is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and holds a masters degree from the Washington School of Fisheries, Seattle. On his appointment as assistant director of the U.S. fish and wild-life service last year, he was described as having a breadth of experience unequalled only by a few in the entire fisheries field.

Kask's only comment on his resignation from the U.S. service was "it seemed like a good time to make a change."

He leaves at a time when the service is being shuffled.

Kask is familiar with Canadian fisheries practices and research. He served on the scientific staff of the international halibut fisheries commission from 1929 to 1937 as research scientist and from 1938 to 1943 was assistant director of another Canadian-American joint body, the international sockeye salmon fisheries commission.

His first post with the U.S. fish and wild-life service was that the new vice-chairman of the board will be Otto Young of Ottawa, who has been the board's scientific advisor.

At Ottawa Wednesday, Mr. Kask's appointment was confirmed and announcement made that the new vice-chairman of the board will be Otto Young of Ottawa, who has been the board's scientific advisor.

Sweeping Concessions By Reds in E. Germany

Peace Treaty Signed With Protestant Church; May Be Prelude to Unification

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Red rulers announced sweeping reductions Wednesday night in the communization of the Soviet-occupied territory and signed a peace treaty giving the Protestant Church big concessions.

Both startling developments—Western quarters figured the Kremlin ordered them—apparently were aimed at making the east zone a more attractive candidate for unification with the more prosperous and free West Germany.

Some Western officials here expressed belief that the moves were only a prelude to some other important Soviet action, perhaps a Kremlin call for a four-power meeting on Germany.

The politburo directives provided for:

1. No further extension of the collective farm system.

2. Making state bank credits available to private business men. Those who have been forced out of business will be granted permission to set up shop again.

3. Returning confiscated property and full civil rights to persons who come back to East Germany after fleeing to the West.

4. A general amnesty for all prisoners serving one to three years on charges of having damaged the state-owned economy.

5. Issuance of ration cards to all persons. The state recently withheld cards from 250,000 East Germans, regarded as outside the favored Red circle.

The pact to end the bitter church-state battle was announced jointly by Grotewohl and Bishop Otto G. Dibelius, head of the Protestant Church of all Germany. Its nine points, covering most of the main issues, sharply reversed the government's hostile attitude of the last few months.

The Protestants are the most powerful religious group in East Germany. Bishop Dibelius' flock includes 16,000,000 of the East's 18,000,000 and 25,000,000 of the 48,000,000 in the West.

German Catholic officials welcomed the agreement and said they hoped to obtain a similar promise of relief from Communist persecution.

The church-state pact provides:

1. Recognition of the church's right of assembly.

2. "No further actions against the Youth Communities and other church groups."

3. Review of court sentences against more than 100 pastoors now in jail on charges of opposing the state. Confiscated church property will be returned.

4. All state subsidies to the church—long customary in Germany—to be paid promptly.

5. The ministry of education to work out a plan restoring religious lessons to Soviet zone classrooms.

6. Elimination of discrimination against advanced students loyal to the church or to church groups.

U.S. Halt - Reds Policy Criticized by Pearson

Medicine Hat Families Evacuated

Flood Situation

At City 'Back'

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (BUP)—Families started to evacuate their homes in a suburb of Medicine Hat today, as the turbulent South Saskatchewan River burst over its banks in an angry torrent.

A civic official said the flood situation in the city was "bad" after a dyke in the Purmal subdivision gave way under the tremendous pressure of the flood-swollen river. Four families left their homes just before midnight and others were preparing to pull out for high ground as the river continued to rise, after inundating about 10 residential blocks.

Its level of 27 feet already tops the 1951 flood level, but destruction so far has not been as heavy as two years ago. Officials say if the water rises another three feet, hundreds of families will be flooded out of their homes.

Scores of civic workers and volunteers spent the night throwing up sandbag barriers along the river banks and those of Ross and Seven Persons creeks.

The city's maternity hospital was partially evacuated during the night and preparations were made to empty the hospital if the flood worsens.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (BUP)—Yellow, boiling floodwaters from the Old Man River left 150 persons homeless today and cut the water supply for the city's 25,000 residents to less than one-half of normal.

Civic authorities said the flood was the worst in history here.

A brewery and the largest laundry in Lethbridge shut down in an attempt to ease the water situation that was becoming serious by the hour.

Rationing plans were under consideration.

The flood began Tuesday night when the river crashed over its banks. The waters were slowly receding today, but were still very high.

Civic, reserve army and civil defense officials held an emergency meeting and ordered evacuation of the river flatlands as the angry waters at times rose at the rate of one foot per hour.

The council also said it would co-operate with health authorities to do whatever is considered necessary to help control the spread.

The council also said it would co-operate with health authorities to do whatever is considered necessary to help control the spread.

The question now is did the Liberal voters dislike the Socreds so much that they voted second choice for the CCF, or did they bury their animosity and let their consciences tell them they must support free enterprise.

LEAD COULD DWINDLE

Mike Pearson made it plain he ain't ready t' try t' control th' political thinkin' o' half th' globe.

Wonder if th' absentee vote'll count as much as th' absent-minded?

Also wonder if Claude'll stick t' radio for his mayoral campaign?

'MEANS DEATH TO US'

Rhee in Flat Truce Denial

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee disagreed with President Eisenhower to day on the need for a cease-fire in Korea in what amounted to a flat rejection of the impending truce.

Rhee's flat denial of the need for a cease-fire came in response to a statement by the South Korean government that there were signs that a serious dispute has arisen over the nature and extent of our collective obligations in Asia.

"I believe—and firmly—that there can be no effective or successful collective action or policy on the basis of this concept," he said. "It would mean that we would have to extend our specific obligations to the defense of Communist governments in North Korea and Peiping, and not merely to the defeat of military aggression."

The Canadian external affairs minister said there was no necessary agreement to the necessity to resist Communist military aggression.

But he said each of two view points had advocates in "our western coalition." One concept calls for all steps short of war "and even at some risk of war" to prevent the appearance of Communist governments in Asia and to weaken or destroy those that have managed to obtain power, he said.

President Chiang Kai Shek talked for half an hour Wednesday with Korean Ambassador Kim Hung Il, presumably on possible developments after the ROK Assembly.

The call for an alliance between Nationalist China and South Korea was made at Pusan in a resolution passed by the ROK Assembly.

President Chiang Kai Shek talked for half an hour Wednesday with Korean Ambassador Kim Hung Il, presumably on possible developments after the ROK Assembly.

As Rhee spoke hordes of Chinese Communists swarmed through South Korean positions today, punching three holes in the main Allied line in the most savage fighting since last October.

Elements of a Chinese division estimated by an Eighth Army officer at more than 8,000 men started the drive on the east central front Wednesday night and pushed into the main area during the early morning hours.

MAJOR ASSAULT

Eighth Army headquarters described the assault as "very heavy."

The Red forces swarmed over ROK outposts like a steaming artillery barrage. During one hour of the fighting Chinese communists fired about 33,000 rounds.

Communist troops originally knocked four holes in the main line near "Outpost Harry" but Americans of the U.S. Third Division closed one of the gaps after 12 hours of bitter fighting.

Shortly after daybreak, the South Koreans, whose government has threatened to throw them into combat alone if the forthcoming ceasefire is ignored by President Syngman Rhee, counterattacked two of the Communist-held strongholds and battled to contain another penetration.

Meanwhile, at Panmunjom, staff officers split into two sections today to speed up their work on a Korean truce.

Army Col. Don O. Darrow took over one of the teams smoothing out final details of the armistice after 12 hours of bitter fighting.

Including casualties from twisters that struck in the midwest earlier in the week, the national tornado death toll stood today at 243.

Clear Majority

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier D. L. Campbell's Liberal-Progressive government was assured of a clear majority in the next legislature with the indicated election of 29 members in the 57-seat house. Three independent members also have indicated they will support the Liberal-Progressives. (See story page 7.)

Williams said if the U.S. fails to take a "share," Canada will go it alone with all construction on the Canadian side and the United States will have no voice in setting terms. Joint participation "should lessen the chance for friction between the two countries," he said.

Nash stressed the project's importance to national defense.

"It will not only provide an avenue to the important industrial area surrounding the Great Lakes but will reduce by about 1,000 miles the open-sea route to the British Isles which obviously would be an important advantage in time of war," he testified.

Subcommittee Chairman George A. Dondero (R-Mich.) announced at the outset that testimony will be limited to 12 hours—six hours for each side.

An advocate of U.S. participation in the project, Dondero said nevertheless "this is the last hearing—whether we go in or out."

CROSSWORD PRIZE NOW $175; No. 10 PROVED TOO TOUGH

Crossworders were not in their best form for Victoria Times Crossword Puzzle No. 10. Best of the thousands of entries had five errors. "Rase" was the big stumper, 4,705 tripping at this point. Complete answer with explanations for Puzzle No. 10 appear on Page 19 today.

Prize money is climbing and $175 is offered for the correct solution to Puzzle No. 11, which will appear Friday.

Split Among Allies Seen Shaping in UN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (BUP)—United Nations General Assembly President Lester B. Pearson warned today that the United States would find few followers among its present allies in any policy aimed at the "defeat of Communism as such in Asia."

Pearson said in a speech prepared for delivery to Harvard University Alumni Association that there were signs that a serious dispute has arisen over the nature and extent of our collective obligations in Asia.

The Canadian external affairs minister said there was no necessary agreement to the necessity to resist Communist military aggression.

But he said each of two view points had advocates in "our western coalition." One concept calls for all steps short of war "and even at some risk of war" to prevent the appearance of Communist governments in Asia and to weaken or destroy those that have managed to obtain power, he said.

There are few countries in our western alliance willing to accept this obligation, especially in the terms in which it is sometimes presented in this country.

There are "groups and governments," Pearson said, who feel that Communism in Asia is a social, economic and political development, growing out of special Asian conditions and one primarily for Asians to deal with.

Stigmatized as Colonization

Active support of anti-Communist elements in Communist countries, and "continuing strong support for any regime which is opposed to Communism, irrespective of its nature or its popular support," would be stigmatized as western colonialism, he said.

Though other free countries will not be at the Bermuda meeting of U.S., British and French leaders, he said, "they cannot escape its consequences or isolate themselves from its decisions."

The United States cannot go it alone," Pearson said, but as leader of the coalition of the west will have to accept the spirit of "full consultation and agreement on basic policies and objectives."
